

Food Relay

6x30'

Paige Murtaugh is connecting the world one dish at a time. Travelling from country-to-country, she learns a culturally important recipe from the locals of one country, then travels to her next destination and cooks it for locals there, before learning a new dish from them and continuing on her epic relay!

Episodic Synopsis:

Episode 1 - Serbia

Paige discovers how a river splits Serbia's geography, history, and food. After a tour of Turkish influenced Belgrade she travels up to the Northern capital of Novi Sad, where Austrian roots run deep.

Episode 2 - Sri Lanka

Starting in the mountainous center, Paige visits the British tea plantations before descending to the jungle to learn cooking from the original tribes to reach the island. Traveling to the coast she picks up tips from celebrity chef Publis Silva at the colonial hotel with a tropical Romeo and Juliet legacy. In the capital of Sri Lanka, logistical problems challenge the Serbian meal planned for her Sri Lankan guests.

Episode 3 - Mexico

Paige teams up with local TV host Diego Alfaro to tour the cuisine capital of Latin America, learning about the heavy Aztec influence in the food and drink. A local rock star and fashion icon join Paige and Diego for a utensil free Sri Lankan meal.

Episode 4 - Greece

The Greeks are about to get their socks knocked off with a spicy Mexican arsenal, but first they have a few things to show our host. Paige learns about the unique culture of Thessaloniki where the country's best seafood and produce converge. At the School of Aristotle, she follows tasty peach desserts all the way back to a tree presented by Alexander the Great.

Episode 5 - Vietnam

Paige may get more than she bargained for in this land of old traditions and resilient locals. An unusual meal in Hanoi leads her to communities in the north which exclusively breed cobra. Down in Ho Chi Min, a secret sauce sets her mouth on fire, but she's packing her own flavour assault: A Greek meal combined with a Zorba dance that leaves the locals with satiated tummies and dancing feet.

Episode 6 - USA

In the city of angels, Paige goes on a mission to explain “what is American food?” It’s a question that will bring her to soul food in Compton, diner dives where truckers gather, and frou frou dining in the most ostentatious joints in town. The real fun begins when her surprise celebrity guests get a Vietnamese feast that brings new perspective and appreciation between two countries linked with a cloudy past.
